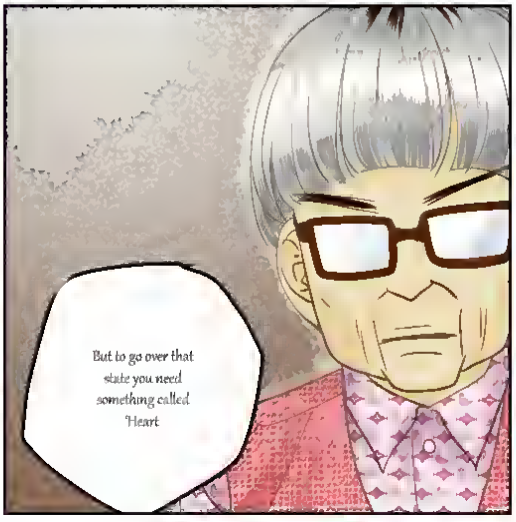
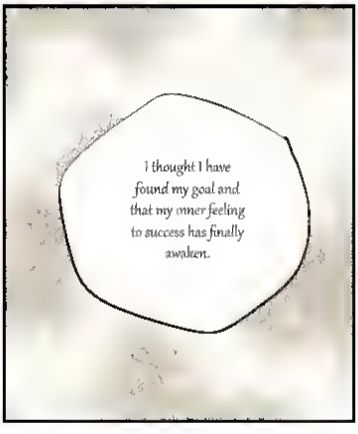
On some sides, humans are very much like machine
To reach certain target it is possible to reach it through repeated practice



But to go over that state you need something called 'Heart'

The reason I felt such a strong emotion when you told me to work together is because...



I thought I have found my goal and that my inner feeling to success has finally awaken.

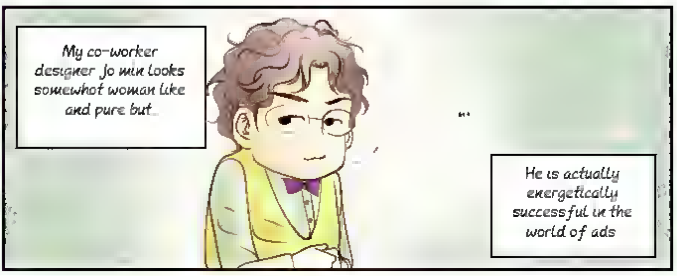
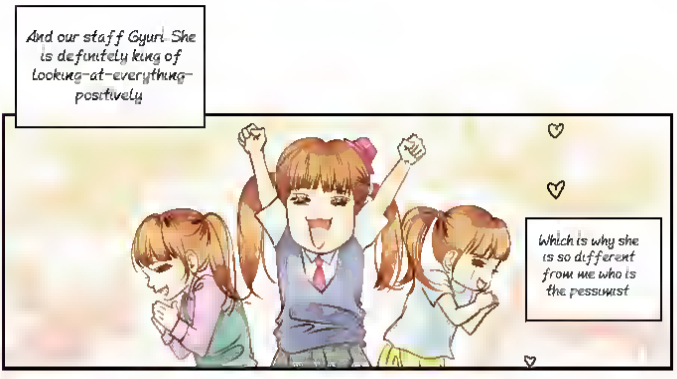
Come risking the trouble because they trust the teacher than the people who live around us



My co-worker designer Jo min looks somewhat woman like and pure but...
He is actually energetically successful in the world of ads



And our staff Gyuri. She is definitely king of looking-at-everything-positively
Which is why she is so different from me who is the pessimist
